A photograph of an open book lying flat on a dark wooden surface. The book's cover is a light beige color with a fine, irregular texture. Along the right edge of the front cover, there is a vertical strip of material featuring horizontal stripes in various shades of grey, silver, and gold. The book is positioned diagonally, with its pages fanned out. In the bottom left corner, a portion of a white couch with a grey textured pillow is visible.

The image shows a stack of several paper samples with different patterns, resting on a dark, textured wooden surface. The top sample has a prominent chevron or herringbone pattern in light beige and grey. To its left, another sample is visible with a small, repeating geometric pattern. The stack is held together by a dark binding strip.

A photograph showing a stack of several light gray or off-white paper samples with a subtle, fine-grained texture. The samples are arranged diagonally across the frame, resting on a dark, horizontally-grained wooden surface. The lighting is soft, highlighting the slight variations in the paper's color and texture. In the bottom right corner, the text "702CN36" is printed in a large, bold, black sans-serif font.
